- Application for development approval - Lot 64 Moramocking Road, Wandering
- Wandering Community Centre Upgrade

WANDERING COMMUNITY CENTRE UPGRADE

The Wandering Community Centre Upgrade Committee recently had its first meeting and at its Ordinary Meeting of Council on 21 July 2022 Council voted to move forward with the preparation of a concept plan and a full costing by a Quantity Surveyor. The Shire President and other Shire Councillors are excited that this project is progressing and agree that the building will be a much valued asset to the town once it is completed.

Once the concept plan and costings have been completed and endorsed by the Committee, engagement with the community by undertaking community consultation and seeking their feedback on the concept plan will be undertaken.

Whilst this is happening, the Shire will continue discussions with potential funding organisations and will obtain proposals from suitably qualified consultants who can assist the Shire in preparing the necessary business cases to support any grant applications.

Other works currently under way at the Wandering Community Oval is construction of the an All Aged Access Ramp to link the Community Centre directly to the Oval. The Shire is planning to have this project completed before the Wandering Fair in October

WORKS UPDATE

- Winter maintenance grading of gravel roads has commenced and will be ongoing over the winter months.
- Road construction work on the York Williams Road between Pumphreys Bridge and the Shire of Williams boundary is complete. The remaining gravel resheeting on this road between Stevens Road and the Shire of Williams boundary has been placed on hold until the Shire wide maintenance grading has been completed.
- George Road culvert upgrade work is complete. This work will reduce damage to the road during heavy rain events at this location when flood water normally flows over the road scouring out the road surface.
- Due to public feedback regarding motorists traveling on the York Williams Road and not giving way at the Wandering Pingelly Road intersection, the Shire has undertaken a Road Safety Audit as part of a Black Spot Safe Systems review of the intersection. Some of the recommended treatments have been installed with further treatments subject to Black Spot approval.
- Winter weed spraying has been completed along Shire road verges so to reduce weed growth on the gravel shoulders and table drains. Stopping weeds growing on the gravel shoulder of sealed roads will reduce rain water softening the shoulder, causing road failures along the edge of the bitumen seal.
- The insurance claim for the earthquake damage at the CRC building has been settled. Repairs are programmed for November 2022.
- The installation of four water tanks for fire fighting purposes is progressing well and have been filled. The remaining work on the Blackboy Springs tank is to have a Water Corporation contractor connect it to the water mains. This project is fully funded by the state government as part of DFES support for additional water resources in rural areas during bushfires.
- Wandering Fire Station upgrade - the installation of a septic system for the first stage of the project is underway with completion scheduled in late July. The plans can be viewed on our website
- If you have any concerns with Roads, Parks or Shire Buildings please lodge a request by going to our website <https://www.wandering.wa.gov.au/forms/feedback-form/6>, contacting the Shire on 9884 1056, or use the camera on your phone to scan the QR Code below.

AUSTRALIA POST UPDATE

COLLECTING SOMEONE ELSE'S MAIL

It is a requirement from Australia Post that anyone collecting mail on your behalf MUST have a collection authorisation signed by both the person the mail is addressed to, and the person collecting it. A form can be collected from the Shire Office, emailed to you on request or a copy can be found in this edition of the Echo.

IF YOU ARE NEW IN TOWN OR A VISITOR EXPECTING MAIL

We'd love you to come into the Shire office and say "hi" if you are new in town! This helps us when your mail comes in as we will know you are the current resident. Similarly if you are visiting and expecting mail please let us know your name and the address the mail is going to so we can make sure it gets to you. Mail that comes in and is not for someone that we know as a resident or visitor gets returned to sender after 14 days. You can email us at reception@wandering.wa.gov.au or phone 9884 1056 as well if this is easier.

POST OFFICE BOX KEYS

Please remember to bring your key with you when you collect your mail, if you have lost your key another one can be ordered for you.

COLLECTION OF PACKAGES

A reminder to check your PO Box to see if you have a package collection notification before enquiring at the counter. If you do not have a notification this means you do not have a package.

You have a Parcel

Please collect within five days. This card and identification with address details are required when collecting your item.

Wandering Golf Club Report July 2022

 Club mixed foursomes – M&L Hardie *****

Sunday July 10th saw nine men and nine ladies play in the club mixed foursomes to win the coveted M&L Hardie Trophy. The competition was tight and whilst everyone played an amazing game, there can only be one winner... Congratulations to Clem Nottle and Lyn Schorer on a gross score of 93 points! Runners up were Glen Hardie and Jacqui Schorer on 94 points, whilst the Nett winners were Brad Hunt and Elizabeth Turton on 72 points.

This day also marked a major milestone for one of our members; at the conclusion of presentations, Glen Hardie was awarded a badge for 50 years of membership at Wandering Golf Club! This milestone was celebrated with kind words and memories from President Bruce Dowsett as well as other members who have golfed with Glen over his 50 years of being an amazing golfer and member! Glen is currently our Mens A Grade Champion, an overall top bloke and can usually be found in the winners circle at many club days and GS events! We look forward to seeing Glen represent Wandering Golf Club for the next 50 years!

Below are the novelties results:

- #2 NTP – Lyn Schorer
- #4 NTP – Deb Schorer
- #7 Longest C/P – Clem Nottle and Lyn Schorer
- #9 best 3rd – Jacqui Schorer and Glen Hardie
- #12 Best 2nd – Clem Nottle and Lyn Schorer
- #15 NTP – Glen Hardie
- #18 NTP – Dawn Dowsett

Upcoming dates to note down for August include the mens open weekend on the 6th/7th and the Cuballing open weekend on the 20th/21st. For the ladies, Wednesday August 3rd will be the Deb Schorer Trophy and the 25th/26th country week games. Please also note that the rescheduled Elders Scroungers Day at Wandering Golf Club will be Thursday August 18th!

WHY NATIONAL SKILLS WEEK 2022 IS IMPORTANT

National Skills Week is in its 12th year and is identified as an event of national significance by the Federal Government to create awareness of VET.

Despite the Vocational Education and Training (VET) sector continuing to produce exceptional education and employment results for its graduates, pathways and the diversity of careers are not widely understood. There are many misconceptions surrounding the benefits and opportunities that an individual can gain by completing a VET qualification.

There is a high emphasis on positive stories -graduates are provided to media enabling their experience to be shared with the purpose of inspiring other Australians to consider VET career pathways. Key Industry experts and sector executives are ready to speak on employment opportunities, skills needs and changing workforce requirements across a diverse range of industry sectors

OUR FOCUS

National Skills Week (NSWk) was founded on four key areas of focus, notably to dispel the negative perceptions that surround vocational education and training (VET), highlight its diversity, the career pathways, the success stories that emanate from VET, plus bring focus to emerging skills needs, and industry trends.

THE THEME FOR 2022

The theme is A Universe of Skills: Go beyond your imagination. We are asking people to imagine and re-imagine possibilities for careers, opportunities and emerging industries.

PHCC Working Together
Peel-Harvey Catchment Council

Edition 67
August 2022

NRM is the management of natural resources such as land, water, soils, plants and animals. It brings together land use planning, water management, biodiversity conservation and sustainability of industries such as agriculture, mining, tourism, fisheries and forestry.

Tunbridge Gully Planting Day

What a fantastic turnout of Volunteers we had this year to assist with the annual Tunbridge Gully planting. Thank you to the 78 volunteers from Boddington District High School, South32 Worsley Alumina, Newmont Australia, Shire of Boddington and Friends of the Reserves - Boddington (Inc). A huge thank you to Local Elder, Greg Thorne for his Welcome to Country at the commencement of the planting and three cheers to the BDHS P&C for the best sausage sizzle!

Harry, Christine and Noah

Older seedlings are now towering over the Year 5 & 6 students and the Juncus acutus (Spiny rush) is few and far between. Restoration of the native vegetation is well underway and is improving the waterway and water quality within our ecosystem.

A variety of 21 species were planted this year including those in the Genera of Acacia, Banksia, Callistemon, Calothamnus, Casuarina, Eucalyptus, Hakea, Kennedia, Kunzea and Melaleuca.

Dryandra Woonta Felixer Workshop

Local landholders recently attended a workshop in Dryandra Woodland to learn about PHCC's Dryandra Woonta Project which includes the first Wheatbelt trial of the Felixer™ cat grooming trap.

Guest speakers included Travis (Jock) Abraham, Wilman Noongar Elder, who welcomed attendees to country. Dr Karen Bettink (PHCC) gave an overview of the Dryandra Woonta Project which will include a non-toxic trial of the Felixer™ on private property surrounding Dryandra Woodland and other targeted feral cat, fox and pig control to reduce threats to numbats and chuditch. Dr Judy Dunlop (WA Feral Cat Working Group), who has previously trialled the Felixer™ in the Pilbara, shared her knowledge and demonstrated how the Felixer™ identifies cats as a target animal. John Read (Thylation), who invented the Felixer, spoke to landholders via a prerecording about how Thylation took advantage of cats natural grooming behaviour to develop the Felixer™ which uses rangefinder sensors to distinguish target cats and foxes from non-target wildlife and spray targets with a measured dose of toxic 1080 gel. The Felixer™ is solar powered and photographs all animals detected. Attendees then enjoyed a demonstration and got to hear some of the audio lures used attract the feral cats. Thank you to all who attended the workshop.

Talkin' Soil Health

One of Australia's largest and most reputable soil health conferences, Talkin' Soil Health, is returning to York on Thursday, 11 August and will be jam-packed with national and local speakers and presenters from DPIRD, UWA, CSIRO, Soil CRC and local farmers.

The event is hosted by Wheatbelt NRM, with the theme, "Building Resilience from the Subsoil Up" and will bring together farmers, researchers and industry professionals to provide practical tools and advice that farmers can use to build resilient soils.

Plus, join us in the evening for a cocktail dinner and the announcement of our Soil Health Champions!

Talkin' Soil Health Conference

Building Resilience From The Subsoil Up

Talkin' Soil Health, one of Australia's premier soil health conferences, is returning to historic York.

Join us to hear from renowned speakers and farmers sharing practice and evidence based initiatives that shine a spotlight on the theme "Building Resilience from the Subsoil Up". This event will provide an opportunity to hear from farmers about how they are making changes to their farming systems. Gain a better understanding of the science behind building the health, resilience and productivity of our soil.

Plus join us in the evening for a cocktail dinner to celebrate your regional Soil Health Champions!

Carnaby's Black Cockatoos' Flying East

With nesting season soon upon us you may notice the return of Carnaby Black Cockatoos to the eastern parts of the catchment.

Returning from their winter feeding grounds on the Swan Coastal Plain, many Carnaby's head east to nest in wheatbelt areas in large ancient hollow bearing trees such as salmon gum and wandoo.

Generally they will migrate in pairs in late winter/spring and can travel 150km to the breeding sites where the female hatched. Once arriving they will prospect for suitable hollows. Indicative prospecting behaviour includes chewing or chipping around the edges of hollows and entering and existing hollows in pairs. The older/dominant pairs will get the best hollows with the younger pairs getting seconds which are generally less successful at raising a chick.

The female will lay two eggs with normally only one surviving. The egg will be incubated for 30 days, then the chick will hatch and grow for another 70 days before fledging (leaving the nest). It is critical that a fresh water supply is available within 2km of the nest, and enough food within 6-12 km.

Flocks of males will travel to find food for the females and their chicks, returning mid-morning and late afternoon to feed them. The female will leave the nest to have a drink and be fed by the male. She will spend less time in the nest as the chick grows.

If you see pairs of Black Cockatoos, see which direction they are flying and where they land, and if you think you've discovered a breeding hollow please notify Megan LeRoy on megan.leroy@peel-harvey.org.au or 6369 8800.

More information on Carnaby's on your farm, can be found here: <https://birdlife.org.au/documents/CBC-carnabys-and-farms-2013.pdf>

COVID-19 We value the health and safety of our whole community. Where possible please contact us to make a booking via phone on 6369 8801 or 0455 166 780 or via email.

Volunteer with us...

Caring for our catchment is a huge task. If you would like to help in any way - from planting trees, assisting at events or monitoring projects - please contact us, we would love to hear from you.

What's been happening:

The Australia State of Environment Report has been released and urgent action is needed to reverse the alarming trends in biodiversity loss and climate change.

We continue to work with the community to improve the health of the catchment including the land, waters and species within it and we encourage everyone to continue to do great environmental work in their patch which supports our vision.

How rising rent may impact your bond

As rents continue rising across Western Australia, many tenants are finding that in addition to paying more money to live in their home each week, there is an extra expense they need to consider.

After rent is increased at a property, a landlord or property manager is entitled to ask the tenant to pay extra money towards their security bond.

Known as a 'bond top-up', the amount of money requested will depend on how much the weekly rent has increased by. For a property rented at $1,200 a week or less, the maximum total security bond that can be charged is the equivalent of four weeks' rent, while for weekly rents above $1,200 there is no limit on the total bond that can be charged.

New figures show the Bonds Administration team at Consumer Protection has handled around 69,000 bond top-ups since the COVID-19 rental moratorium ended 15 months ago – an average of 153 lodgements a day. This figure is around three times higher than the 50 lodgements the team typically processed before the emergency period took effect.

Tenants facing rent rises should know there are strict rules surrounding how often their landlords or property managers are allowed to request the extra funds be paid.

In both fixed-term and periodic (no fixed end-date) leases, rent increases can only occur after the first six months, and on a half-yearly basis thereafter.

Only once the rent has been lawfully increased can the landlord or property manager request a bond top-up and they must provide the tenant with a receipt detailing the date the money was received, the name of the person (or people) paying the bond, the amount paid and the address of the rental property.

The tenant should also expect to receive a notification from the Bonds Administrator that the bond variation has been received.

While market forces generally determine rental prices, if a tenant believes what they're paying is too high, they should try negotiating with the landlord or property manager to request a reduction or argue against a proposed increase, before making an application to the Magistrates Court.

Further information about rent and bond increases is on our website at www.consumerprotection.wa.gov.au or contact us on 1300 30 40 54 or consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au

Your Honest Guide to STIs

BY THE REGIONAL MEN'S HEALTH INITIATIVE
August 2022

No, I'm not talking about Subaru's motorsport division, rather an important aspect of our sexual health - Sexually Transmitted Infections (STIs). These are infections or diseases passed on during sexual contact with an infected partner. We need to raise awareness of STIs with all sexually active blokes regardless of age and while sex ed is taught to us as teenagers, STIs also affect our aging population. Concerningly, some STIs have also been on the rise throughout the Australian population in the last couple of decades, namely chlamydia, gonorrhoea, and syphilis. There's a lot of misinformation that you might hear going around about STIs (no you can't catch herpes from a toilet seat) but what are the facts?

Firstly, let's bust some key myths:

- "We don't need to 'tarp-up' if we are using another form of contraception". While condoms are a good form of contraception, they are also just as important to reduce the risk of an STI.
- "If I don't have symptoms, I don't need an STI check-up". While these little nasties can cause some uncomfortable symptoms, many STIs can be asymptomatic. If we are sexually active and have multiple sexual partners, we need to be getting a check-up regularly.
- "HIV only affects men who have sex with men". About one quarter of Australian HIV cases are attributed to heterosexual sex. Routine STI tests (which include a check for blood borne viruses) are important for all sexually active men.
- "They only affect promiscuous blokes". STIs aren't exclusively contracted by young men with a lot of sexual partners and contracting an STI does not mean you are 'dirty'.

So, what can we do to practice safer sex and better manage our sexual wellbeing?

- 1. Maintain communication. Like other aspects of our sexual wellbeing (prostate issues and erectile dysfunction), STIs are a topic that aren't discussed very often. Maintaining a positive relationship with our partner must include open lines of communication. This will involve a conversation around recent STI tests, condom use, and contraception methods.

- 2. Use protection. If used correctly, male condoms are extremely effective at protecting against most STIs. So, it's incredibly important to use a condom every time you have sex, particularly if you are not in a monogamous relationship.
- 3. Get tested. If left untreated the impact from STIs can be exacerbated. Gonorrhoea and chlamydia can cause blockages in the sperm tubes and affect male fertility. If you do test positive however, it isn't the end of the world as you know it. There might be a few awkward conversations but most STIs are easily cured or managed with appropriate and timely medical treatment.

This article isn't intended to scare us into abstinence. Sex should be something that is fun and enjoyable, not feared. Intimacy can be an important way to connect and show love to our partner in healthy adult relationships. We simply need to take responsibility for our sexual wellbeing to protect ourselves and our partner.

Remember, stay smart and stay safe!

Watch out for rogue removalists

Moving house is widely considered to be one of life's most stressful events, so we always urge consumers to choose their removalist carefully to avoid any extra drama on the day.

Consumer Protection has recently received a growing number of complaints about the conduct of removalists advertising on social media. Initially the trader quotes an hourly rate and requests a small deposit, however upon arrival they demand a large lump sum be paid up front with a promise to return any unused money once the job is complete.

In some cases, the traders have refused to return or deliver the furniture until the higher fees have been paid. Neither are the promised refunds forthcoming and belongings are often damaged during the move for which a remedy is never provided.

Damage to property accounted for just over half of the 262 complaints we received about removalists in the past 18 months. Disagreements over costs was another top issue, along with removal trucks turning up late.

Consumers are urged to be wary when sourcing removalists on social media, as they may be using someone else's ABN to appear legitimate. It can also be tricky to identify the individual behind a business that is only advertised on social media, meaning consumers may struggle to enforce their rights should they wish to pursue legal action.

When sourcing a removalist, we recommend giving preference to removalists that are members of the Australian Furniture Removals Association or get recommendations from family and friends.

It is best to make sure all the details are worked out and agreed to before the move. Consumers should get a proposal on company letterhead that contains a copy of the terms and conditions and clearly sets out an hourly rate or a fixed price for the job.

Like other traders, removalists must exercise due care and skill by doing all they can to prevent damage or loss, and the consumer has the right to claim compensation if they fail to do this.

Consumers who are having issues with a removalist that cannot be resolved can lodge an online complaint on the Consumer Protection website or email consumer@dmirs.wa.gov.au.
